

Guess who's back? Jk I'm still not going to be posting much (out of ideas, also schools picking up pace) but before I leave again (and I'll probably still check in from time to time btw) I just wanted to give a little notice before I disappear for a little longer. Also in a few months will be the one year notability anniversary for a ton of people (including me lol) so I'll probably be back before that...
Anyways I hope you guys are all doing well and continue to enjoy your lives

PS: if someone could update me on the state of the drama in notability rn, that would be great (just want to know whether it's mostly died down or not yet lol)
