

Chapter 2.

Class

The first day during class, Ms Applewood announced everyone would have Homework. "what about History, Ms Applewood? Why do we need math homework? Essentially since we have all day with you." Max said. "Well it really doesn't matter, Max. It's whatever we fail." Ms Applewood explained.

Ms Applewood pointed to her desk. "Huh?" The entire class asked. "Calm down, now, this here is your test papers from yesterday. I will tell if all of you failed or passed. Along with the grade." Ms Applewood said, leaning on the desk, grabbing the papers. "Lacy. Passed, 99" "Max. Passed. 89." "Undertale. Passed. 90." "Miles, failed. 21, work harder next time." "Lura, passed. 99." "Kitten, Passed. 90." "Starlight, Passed. 98." Ms Applewood said, taking breaths after each name. "Dang Max! I thought we would all get a 100!" Lura said, looking at Max. "I guess so-" Max said, looking down at this paper and scribbling. "Max, what's up." Lacy asked. "Well. I have been wondering what this necklace is about, though." Max said, holding up the Fire necklace. "Yeah.."
