

W.I.P

Idk what face 2 use

this is the og face in gl2

POV: you're on the last math question but you've run out of brain juice so you can't think of how to label the statement. But then you remember the teacher saying that if you don't know how to label the statement then describe it, so as a last resort you write a paragraph on how the label fits the statement or whatever. This didn't happen to me... what're you talking about??