

help me.

Today in Spanish, I was working with my partner for this project.

I have Spanish with seventh graders, and these two seventh grade boys (who are fr my favorite two 7th graders dont tell anyone) were joking around.

The first one, let's call him Mike, kept leaning in to whisper stuff two boy two, let's call him Jack's ear. And then he would get dangerously close to his mouth and would look at his lips and then his eyes. (They aren't gay btw, Mike has a gf)

It was horrifying.

Then, Jack looks at me, smirks, and says, "my god, Im sorry about this. Mike just keeps trying to kiss me."

AND THEN I SAID, "oh, it's fine, Im not surprised." 🤔 🧠 🤔 🧠

Mike just starts dying. I'm dying, and I'm like "wait no that's not what I meant"

BUT NO. THAT'S NOT THE END.

jack looks surprised for a second, then says, "awwww, thank you, that made my day" in this awful, what I assume to be fake flirtatious, tone.

H E L P M E

so now I just have this random inside joke with two boys who are a year and a half younger than me 🧠

(hear me out IF mike wasn't younger than me....)