

Banana character profile

Real name: Hera

Hera was the birth name she would often get called, still often does by those of her species for it is her name chosen by her mother

Chosen name: Banana

Because she hates her name, her father chose to let her choose what she wanted it to be. She looked around, and spotted a banana.

Age: unknown

Pronouns: she/her

Hatch date: Dec 8

Sexuality: Lesbian

Status: none

Married to: nobody

Likes: talking, food, racing, making friends

Dislikes: being hurt, being called her real name, negative talk about her father

Abilities: electricity, orb of lightning, lightning speed, el Thor (dangerous to her but deadly to others, could either kill her or severely harm her. Only used once ever when she hatched)

Personality: Banana is a sweet and energetic dragonet, though is often thought of as annoying by most for how often she talks seeming to never cease. Though she hates her helmet she knows it protects her so she often decorates it for whatever season or area she is in.

Description: She has pastel yellow scales and light yellow fur around her neck in which she rubs to create friction generating her electricity ability. She has various neon yellow spots and a lightning bolt shape on her stomach. Her webbing is a clear yellow and has various black splotches from her original coloring. Her helmet fits around her curved forward bull like horns and has a diamond blue color. Her eyes are white and purple.