

certain people in dandys world public lobbies need to learn how to play without a distractor, the amount of public runs that i see completely disfunction within 5 floors with no one distracting is baffling. Ive can almost consistently reach floor 15 as a solo rodger, so with the right trinkets i do believe you can survive most situations solo, aka with no distractor. like its a SURVIVAL game, learn to survive on your own, do solo runs! Ik they take awhile but you can learn some real valueable info doing it! Also they need to stop screaming at extractor pebbles / goobs, as long as they're being a team player and not greifing, you have no right to be mad at them.