

Okay everyone who actually cares to read this (very unlikely chance but thanks anyways)

Me and one of my friends (not signed up on this platform but yeah) are working on a comic for OC's that I made when I was younger. We added more characters and finished the story line (I had the beginning but never finished) and decided to use the lore to make a comic. No sign ups, but when we finish I may consider a comic dub contest, since notability added the talk feature.

Comic dubs will probably work like so:

I will have open slot things for you to enter your name. Some characters will not be on there since I am going to request some of my friends to dub. If you add your name, record you speaking the dialogue the character has, and send it in. If you want to get in, use emotion and clear speaking to get a dubbing part.

Important!! →

If you send a request in and notice that somebody has replaced your name, please comment me in the dub contest once I add it.

I may post reference art for sneak peeks, but I most likely will only send tiny bits. I also might just give a little bit of dialogue.

Our deadline is Nov. 25, so expect a dub contest around a week later. There will be FIVE COMICS TOTAL. Each has a different chunk/ story in it that ties in to the lore! The first book will be out soon! Get anticipated!!!