

To actually SMART people

My friends...im on the urge of quitting my notability acc I'm going through to much rn including school, BPD, etc...and people telling me I steal which art I work VERY hard on...except the one I apologised for.

Here we go. The “i got so much going on in my life” excuse. You know, if you had so much going on in your life, you wouldn’t have the time to go on someone else’s note, download it, copy it and then paste it onto ANOTHER note, type in a description and title, then post it on notability. And i understand you apologized for 1 but you stole more then 1. If you could please take it down or at least say you didn’t make it. That would save a lot of us time.

And to add on, all of us are dealing with school so thats not really an excuse. That’s called LIFE.

ALSO, the first sentence you typed, “To actually SMART people” is not ok at all. That means that you’re calling everyone else dumb. Pick your words more carefully next time.