You don't make a difference by being the same as everyone else