

Hello little fireflies!

I would like to apologize for not posting much, though I cannot promise I will post more I can promise an explanation!

There is a few reasons that to why I have not been posting.

1. I have no longer had the motivation to even pick up my Apple pencil.
2. This is my first year of high school & I have been focusing on my grades & family.
3. My sports have recently become much more important as I have earned a scholarship to a college & if I want to keep it I would like to push myself beyond my skills!