

The HSA campus in the winter time is quite a sight.

I must admit

I hate the cold.

Maybe because my dad kicked me out of the house after he caught me...

And my whole family overreacted. Making me an outcast.

But it's freezing.

I've got nowhere to go.

Well, actually I have all the freedom in the world.

And with that freedom I chose to help an old hairy guy find a sparkly rock.

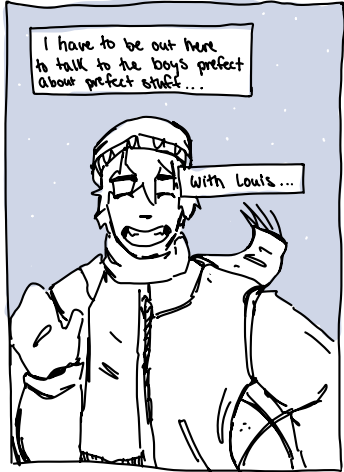

I never finished high school anyway...

So maybe this is good for me...

I have to be out here to talk to the boys prefect about prefect stuff...

With Louis...

He's so nice I'm not used to it.

I knew a guy like him once. But when he found out what I had been doing he switched up real quick.

blah blah blah

Did you get all that Regan?

Are you doing alright Regan? You've been really... strange lately.

Oh yea I'm fine but could you just repeat everything you just said. I kinda zoned out...

who? -

He was just explaining to me the new regulations for dorms in the winter season... The new 5:00 curfew... School dance implications...

So much stuff to worry about on top of finding that rock.

He's too busy. He wouldn't want someone with a past like mine anyways.

Box 4 Progress?

Ugh. This guy won't let off.

I'll find you're stupid sapphire later. I'm busy.

sent

Let's try this again.

To be Continued

