

when did humans start to separate,
brain and heart,
as if they could stay alive alone?
flip it around, the other way, if they were apart and you had,
no power, start, or no database, only a shell remains,

what fun is it, to be so calculated?
or be taken advantage of,
cause your heart's too trusting, silent expressed,
push my head into my chest, bind them up, forever wed,
"don't drift too far" they said

