

Life hits different when a page on a book smells good.