

Characters I dislike because of how much people coddle them

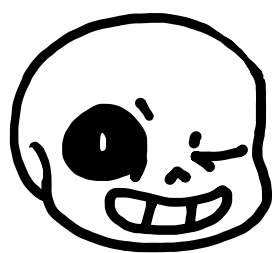

Earth-Solarballs

He was a terrible person that did terrible things, but the fandom completely did a 180 on him when he started being all cuckoo and depressed. They all are obsessed with him and it's so annoying "EArth this and eaRTH that" he's the primary focus and the attention they give him isn't normal and totally mischaracterizing. Stop making him have problems he doesn't have, stop giving him relationships he would never be in, and stop treating him inappropriately. I don't like the guy but the fandom makes me hate him.

Shelly-Dandy's World

Players are upset because in the game she is said to be forgotten and is ignored, which is sad. But then people overdramatize it and it's annoying, we get it. You can make angst out of it, but don't overdo it please. Every time I see mention of her it's all baby talk and poor Shelly, there's so much more to a character than a singular adversity. Making her unacknowledged presence her only trait and then babying her to an extreme degree upsets me. The other toons don't even hate her, they just don't really converse with her. And it's normal to be left out, but if literally everyone you know ignores you and most aren't bitter in nature then maybe you're the issue lol. Just provide something to the conversation and interest people, and maybe find more hobbies than just dinosaurs because maybe that's why no one talks to you LOOOOOOOLLL JKJK I LOVE SHELLY BUT HATE HOW PEOPLE TREAT HER

Sans-Undertale

I just don't like how he's popular for the wrong reasons lol, do I need to explain why the fandom ruined him for me?

Cosmo -Dandy's World

Why did the fandom turn them into soft, weird, and babyish characters. They always do this when someone has a slightly timid or awkward personality and it's annoying, and then they pair them with another character who's more brash and outgoing and then they have an extremely inappropriate relationship. Please stop, I understand people can have their fun but when everyone is doing it everywhere I go it just bothers me.

Astro-Dandy's World

