

hi everyone!

I've been posting a couple times in the last few months saying im back but really I meant I was back to writing and posting.

Today I finally went and looked at tons and tons and tons of notes and comics and drawings from the last six months and it brought back soooo many memories from two years ago, especially seeing how far people like @cabin7anvenger and @cabin6girl have come with writing and the fact that @sparra is still doing HSA!

I want to honestly start coming back and posting stuff besides just regular chapter updates (I also kinda want to write more camp half blood chapters for some reason???)

Anyway if you see me around say hi :D

trying to be back for real,
marigold