

side
eye
~:~

Makeup story time: This is why, you should never let someone copy your social studies project. So basically, we had this project where we would choose two ancient civilizations, and compare/contrast them. Lemme explain smth here. The first person to write down two civilizations got to keep them, and anyone else had to change theirs.. I chose Egypt and Greece, the easiest ones, and I was the very first to write it down. So then the time came along to read out what civilizations you had. So someone, who wrote down their civilization afterward, put ancient Egypt and Greece. Now their initials are AA so they're top of the list. So when we got down to my name, I was told I would have to change a civilization! So now, I'm doing some goofy civilization, with no information about it at all. >:(

Finished
product

