

What if like Picasso wasn't being surreal with his art, and it was just horribly twisted, grotesque creatures that came to him for portraits?

Story concept unlocked:
Painter's Requiem

