

So there was a fight in my religion class...

The sub and this kid (we're gonna call him A) were bullying this other kid (B) about his hair line...
So B got mad and choked A and everyone went silent so then B got called up, then when he came back kicked a trash can and flipped someone off and then he got called up again and got suspended and for flipping someone off got a Detention
When he got back he punched the table and yeah...

A's in trouble too but B's in worse

I got put into a math comp without my consent and my parents said yes...

I mean at least it will look good on my record lol...

By love y'all hope you have a great day
