

I am an autistic person and most people know that. Sometimes for me it means hyper fixating on special interests for hours, meltdowns, and stimming. Other times it means I run around the house for hours because I've been social since 6 AM (it's 6 PM where I am rn)