

Made In Heaven is the 3rd, and final evolution of the Stand: White Snake, the stand of the JJBA Part 6 Villian, Enrico Pucci. The overall concept of Made In Heaven is pretty bizarre, and extremely overpowered. Other than being extremely powerful, Made In Heaven is so fast, that there is no true limit to its speed, it may even go 100x+ the speed of light. Now Made In Heaven has yet another broken ability... he can reset the entire universe. As shown in the very last episodes/chapters of part 6, Pucci manages to reset the universe and everyone in it(at least I think). And on top of those 2 broken abilities, he can bend gravity of anything to his will. Also when he does speed up the universe to reset it, it seems as though no one else speeds up, but they do. Now the way that Pucci achieves Made In Heaven is pretty bizarre: he had to get 36 sinners(convicts) to touch DIO'S bone. DIO was the villain of Parts 1, and 3, and while he was alive, he told Pucci the way to achieve Heaven, and when to do it. Also The bones began infecting the sinners and they turned into plants and then formed the Green Baby, what gave Pucci the ability to achieve Heaven. After Pucci fused the green baby with his stand at the time, White Snake, he then achieved his next evolution, C-Moon, which gave him his gravity-controlling powers. Now for C-Moon to evolve into the broken stand Made In Heaven, he has to understand the relationship between Gravity and Time. Then once he did that, he had to go to certain coordinates. After he did, he achieved Made In Heaven and all the broken abilities that came with it. Once he did that he ultimately reset the universe, while dying in the process. Overall MIH is stupid broken and shouldn't even exist.