

Y'all my story in ELA was so preppy it was called "the lottery" and basically it was about this village that did a lottery and if you got picked your family would go up and pick again and whoever in the family got picked would be brutally stoned to d3@th 😊

So this woman's family got picked and then out of her family she was picked so yeah that happened and her own children were forced to kill her so she could be sacrificed