

I'm actually so done with C, she thinks that because she's first chair trombone she can boss all us around, literally I was cracking my knuckles and she started to get all p1ssy at me, then like 2 minutes she started to play with her Invisalign's retainer thingy, and I politely asked her to stop because the sound is just HORRIBLE, and she didn't stop! The funny thing is that I stopped cracking my knuckles when she asked, and she didn't even ask nicely! She just went: "A. Stop that. It's annoying" and I said "Hey C, can you please not do that? It's really gross and it makes a really weird sound" so that's just fun