

How was the industrial revolution a positive impact?

Introduction

The Industrial Revolution changed from a home business society to a manufacturing economy where products were no longer made by hand instead by machines. This led to increased production, lower prices, more goods and improved wages from country side areas to city areas.

Point one

The Industrial Revolution had many positive effects. Some of those were: an uprise in wealth, the goods, and the living standards. People had access to diets, better housing, and cheaper goods. In addition, education increased during the Industrial Revolution.
