

I'm sitting in Elarn, and supposed to be focused, but I can't. All I'm doing is imagining scenarios in my head of my ocs that I can't draw to my playlist. Last night, my mom caught me on the phone. I managed to clear my history, so she shouldn't find any of my accounts. But I won't be on it for a while. This has happened multiple times before on a bunch of different devices. Every time it does, I get scared I'm gonna forget about my fandoms and interests until I can get back on my accounts. I like to keep everything down so I can remember it. And I'm getting obsessed to technology. And then I feel like I won't be able to see my online friends, and my fandoms that I'm in, and get upset. It's sad. Hopefully I can get back on my accounts soon. I'll probably post a bit more frequently now.