

Hi Peeps! This is the update I have been talking to my crush way more! I gave him a note asking for his phone number, he said that he would love to have my number but his mom would not be fine with that! I played kickball and ran with him in gym the other day! He also clarified that we are friends! He still does not know I like him yet!