

I'm glad all this dram is over because all though I was not in it I do dearly miss all of us having fun and seeing each others art work and being like "oh that's good" instead of being like oh I hate that person I just find it kinda sad that over something so little had such a big outcome to this drama.