Hey guys! I know I've been gone for a while. I've been checking out a bunch of other social media platforms, and the stuff I've seen has been making me really sad. I may not be able to get across what I'm trying to say, but please bear with me. The amount of people who hate themselves makes me so sad because, y'all are all so beautiful. I'm being dead serious. This world is so beautiful. The way the sky looks, the shapes of the clouds, the color of the trees, the smell of the wind, the energy of the lovely lovely people around me. Life is way too short to waste it wishing for things to go differently. No matter what, just know that there is someone here who loves you. If it's your mom, your best friend, your dog, someone loves you and needs you. And if you don't have anyone, I'm here. Just remember that next time you feel like just a grain of sand on a beach. I promise you, something will happen to you one day where you just feel like crying and saying 'thank you.' Stay safe, I love all y'all. Onwards and upwards!