

HAPPY LATE BIRTHDAY NATALIE

Natalie, my dearest friend,

Sincere apologies for the delay of this note. Though shall I admit, sometimes you must wait a while for something better. I have crafted this portrait of you in the timespan of a few hours, oh perhaps a doublet or so, I hope you may cleave to it for at least a few minutes.

May this new year provide for you a new emprise that you have yet not experienced. I only wish for your temperament to remain as magnanimous and canny as it would ever be.

May you put more energy towards your goals and dreams, contributing towards the world with such vehemence, and knowing, one day, your sprit and vigor will wash over the face of the Earth, bringing forth a new light. May your thoughts flow into a thousand streams of consciousness, barraging the atmosphere with flecks of golden poise.

Yet, you will be at peace with your mind, an imperturbable candle that never fully flickers out.

—With much sincerity and only wishes of the best,
Anais @apptoget
