

Hi Peeps! I have a question for guys! Have you ever liked someone but didn't know how to tell them? Well that is happening to me! I like someone but I have no clue how to tell him without the whole school to find out!

People are already starting to suspect things and hearing things wrong and telling their friends wrong information and the person I like doesn't know I like him yet and I am not ready for him to know yet because I want to take it slow! Bc this is my first really crush that is nice, smart, and hard working! I want to tell him but I don't know how!

Could you Peeps help me?

Comment how you think I should tell him? Or any of ideas on how to tell him.