

Story time

I have a crush on a boy named Jasper and everyone knows! The thing is I think he likes my best friend! He knows I like him which is a real big problem for me. In art at school the teacher put us next to each other 😬. Since I'm Aussie school ends soon! We are doing a dance program to practice for our end of year dance and we got put next to each other again! Near the end we need to all bunch up close to each other. At practice we fell on top of each other like wth is going on

What's your story? First comment gets put on my account! 😘