

@ppttoget

deposed crown princess bong

Joseon era Korean hairstyle

she was very lonely

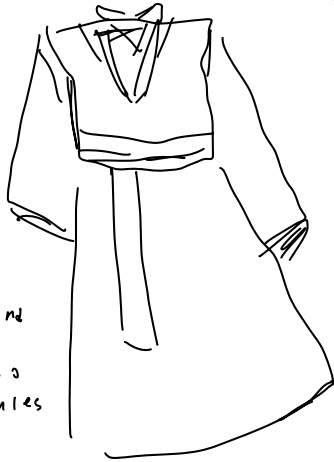

crown princess of the Haeum Bong clan, named Bong Sun-bin (Bong is the lastname) was the second wife of Munjong of Joseon.

Bong Sun-bin loved one of her female maids, so-ssang. Because she showed a particularly strong affection, so-ssang was deeply troubled.

crown princess sun would send food from palace meals to her natal home, which was against the etiquette

she took her husband's clothing and female clothing to send to her home, which was also against the rules

순빈 봉씨 純嬪 奉氏

consort Gwan became pregnant, and Bong, who wanted to secure her spot to the throne, faked a pregnancy.

King Sejong (Munjong was still the prince) made Bong move to an inner court room to protect her from harm.

가야금 →

Bong faked a miscarriage to avoid suspicion of her pregnancy. she started acting weird, peeking at men outside the palace through cracks in the restroom wall. she forced her servants to sing about love-affairs.

she was expelled from the palace before Munjong became King.