

Okay so basically, in this AU while baby Billy was telling his parents about the stars, he fell out of his dimension, and lands into Gravity Falls (Or Dimension 46\') solely because of its Natural Law of Weirdness Magnetism. Fortunately, he landed near Stanford's cabin. Stanford was currently researching about the Gnomes, he had heard a large crash along with the sounds of a baby crying. When he approached Bill hid behind a tree, throwing small balls of fire at Ford (Note: in The Book of Bill, Bill mentions a song the kids at grade schools sung to tease him "Cipher Cipher, he's insane! Starting fires with his brain! " meaning that he had his powers all the way back as a child) Ford was intrigued, but also very confused, he tried to get Bill to come inside with him, considering winter was starting, but Bill refused to come inside. Ford met him stay outside, but during the night Bill snuck inside and slept on his couch

As Bill and Ford got closer, Bill had started to call him "Dad" or "Father" as his memories of his biological parents grew fainter and fainter.

When bill was in his teens, Ford had let him help him and Fiddleford work on their personal project, Bill barely understood it but was glad his dad was doing something good with his free time.

When Fiddleford got sucked into the portal, Bill was terrified. He saw only once what was behind the portal, and he knew a normal person couldn't unsee what was behind there.

The night Stan and Ford has their fight, Bill was sleeping, but he woke up due to the noise. When he saw what happened, he was furious. He started to scream at Stanley about what he had just done the the only person he truly cared about and loved, his body turning into hues of reds and whites.

When Stanley started to stay in Fords cabin, Bill never talked to Stanley, he mainly stayed in his room and only left to get food or water. And in a lucky day he only said a few words to Stan.

As Stan opened the Mysery shack, Bill got somewhat closer to him, talking to him more and helping him with attractions, it was even his idea for it to be called The Murder Hut!

When the twins visited for the summer, Bill was exited to meet his cousins(?) Their parents had told them about their cousin Bill but, they didn't expect their (adopted) cousin to b a IITERAL GEOMETRY DaSH SPIKe!! (Sorry got carried away) Stan and Bill insisted that Bill was the only supernatural oddity in Gravity Falls, but the twins obviously knew that wasn't true.

After the events of S.2 EP.1, when Bill and Stan took Dippers journal, bill kinda just stared at it, on the verge of tears as this was one of the only things that was left behind by his father.

When Ford came back through the portal, Bill was ecstatic. He ran up to Ford before Stan could even think of what to say, and gave him a hug so tight it could cut off one circulation. But as Bill hugged him. Ford looked like he saw a ghost, like he was being reminded of past.. acquaintances.

When their son fell out of their dimension, he were enraged and confused. They believed that the stars their son loved so much had taken him away, they grew into rage and destroyed their dimension trying to find him. When they were letter alone in the universe, they saw the 3rd dimension for the first time, it was confusing, yet beautiful.

As they traveled the multi-verse, looking for their son and destroying galaxies while doing so. As they did this, they slowly made a team called the “Hench-maniacs” featuring; Hydronica, Pool Ball, Jawz, Amorphous Artist, Lock ‘n key, Hextorgon, Binky, and “Th3 3y3 b4ts”.(Yes these are just plays on the existing henchmaniacs, bite me). After “The Dream Realm” eventually combusted, they eventually met “The Shaman” giving a prophecy of 10 symbols. While Scalene was skeptical on the whole prophecy thing, Euclid believed it. After The Shaman banished them from gravity falls, and many attempts to return, they ended up going to different times of the earth, making deals and giving witches their powers (for free to!) And one fateful day, the barrier between them and are let back into gravity falls. Was it an idiot who broke the barrier, or a genius. Good lord it was both.

When Scalene and Euclid met ford, they immediately started to persuade him to build a portal to the decaying “Dream Realm”, they said it was was how genius was made, but in reality, it was for them to see their sin after so long. Well, that’s what they told themselves..

And that’s all the lore I have currently, I will add more in the future so stay tended and get theorizing, or don’t I’m not your boss

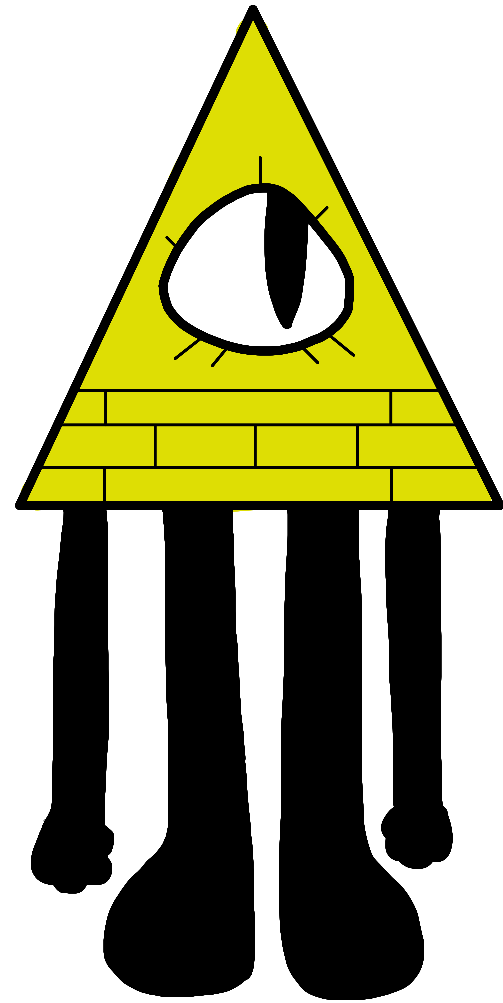

-lavalampscookingshow / A

P.S The rest will be doodles and stuff :3

P.P.S Ford is still a triangle kisser, this time it’s just a polycule

Fun fact: Scalene is the most powerful out of the triangle bunch (we love a femininenomenon) so in their “nightmare” form, most of the attributes take from her, because in their “nightmare” form, Scalene and Euclid mesh together (the “nightmare” form is the big bill from weirdmagedon)

W:HE,Y:;S:D:;E:D:;T:HE,Y:;S:D:;O:;S:;T:;E:;

