

What was your weirdest dream?

I'll start:

I had a dream once that my dad was dressed as an old lady. -@seabunny

I had a dream that my mom tried to kill me- koala

So I had a dream where I first joined a server in Minecraft but it was real life. I still had inventory and stuff but I looked human. After we went to a wierd old house and a creepy lady took us on one by one, at last I entered. All my friends were frozen in fear standing still like ghosts, but as I entered then where I was standing rose up to the sky. I realized that they were frozen cause they had failed facing their greatest fear so I stood through it and finally the doors opened and they all were unfrozen and we ran out of there, we turned around and demons were chasing us so we pulled out our netherite gear and totems and fought them off and then pulled out elytra and flew off into the distance. -@legorathalos14
