

hey, im so sorry but on wednesday i have to get on a plane (something that scares me to death) to go to california then napa. i may see a stranger things thingy... like its hard to explain but yeah. maybe that will make the four hour flight there better?! also, i dont like planes because you are up... in the sky... with two people flying you... help. i may have died if i didnt post