

Hey cubs! Sorry I haven't posted in like a decade, I have been super busy. As some of you may know from my recent bingo post, I'm going to ninth grade soon. I'm having my 15th birthday in September and I'm really excited. I currently live in New Orleans, Louisiana, but my parents wanted to move for my high school to a good school, and start fresh in a new place so that's why I'm so busy. They were thinking about Arizona, Kentucky and maybe Vermont, but we decided on Nashville, Tennessee which as a swiftie I am happy about. I'm very excited to go live there and the best part is that my long-distance boyfriend Leo lives there and we'd only be a few miles away from each other, which is great since I've missed him. I'm going to miss my bestie Charlie, but since she's moving to Madrid anyway it would be the same. She'll be moving back to America, and her parents maybe will consider moving to Tennessee :) I'll still be able to post a bit, but since I'm flying over and packing the last things and of course unpacking over there, it's gonna be maybe a few weeks. Comment if any of you live in Tennessee <3