

On my battle of the oc notes where it's the voting round, people get confused of who's who. The character that is on the right, is the first name in the description and the character that's on the left is named second in the description. PEACE