

When that one "friend" asks you why you're mad at them when they've been ignoring that you exist and staring at you like you're worthless...

She also wants to now hang out w/ me on Saturday for getting a record at a record store... like girl?