

So basically the dynamic between the main character and the love interest is basically morally grey person x morally grey person in my book. They've both did bad things lol