

Hey guys! Sry I haven't posted in a while, I have been really busy with school. Anyways, so my history teacher told us last week we wouldn't have any more tests until after the break. So today we go to class a she says, "Today we have a surprise test I decided you guys will do today so... SUPRISE." All of us are just like wth. So we do it... keep in mind we had not a single minute to study. And we do the test. Btw I sit next to a really smart person. We do it... we both fail. That was my best class I have an A+ or 99% and we just both failed. I am so mad. Literally whyyyyyyyyy.