

A series of horizontal lines for writing, spanning the width of the page. The lines are evenly spaced and extend from the left margin to the right margin. The page is framed by a thick, light red border.