

Hey, everyone! It's vixen! Just coming on this account (that I got from totally not samcat) to say... I'm sorry. I know that what I did was messed up. I'm messed up. But here's a few ppl I think really need an apology.

@ya_el: you're AMAZING. <3 I'm so sorry that I did what I did (nota's being stupid so I can't say it :,3). You deserve someone better. I know that it was wrong of me to do, and I'm sincerely sorry. I adore you (platonically) and your art. If you're still upset with me, that's completely fine. I deserve all the backlash for the mistakes I've made.

@sssamcattt: this is just in general, but I'm sorry. This is like, what? The 3rd argument we've gotten in? Idk anymore. But I just wanna say that I'm sorry. I totally (and unnecessarily) lashed out on you so many times, and I just want to apologize for that.

And to everyone else: I'm sorry. I don't want to quit the gallery, I really don't. I love it here. All of you guys are awesome. I mean it. I love seeing everyone's art improve and get better over time. I love helping people out on their vents when they're going through a rough time. I'm sorry for the mistakes that I've made. I promise to change myself in the nearby future, starting off today. Thank you for the ones that stayed with me through thick and thin, but I needed to come to my senses and realize my mistakes. Thank you, notability, for being the most welcoming place a kid like me could ask for. <3