

Me and my friend were waiting for our bus at the bottom of the stairs. )It's really cold outside right now) Then some 6th grade boys come running down the stairs. "GIVE ME MY FISH!" I felt the squishy fish hit me on the shoulder. My friend gave it back to him. Then some different guy starts screaming, "I HAVE PLAYED THESE GAMES BEFORE." Bro screamed it 3x and one of my teachers was ready to kill this guy. Little bro you ain't safe.

My friend should have picked it up and threw it back up the stairwell. Then right after we ran to the bus, almost missing it. We get on and these literal 7th graders start singing the song from squid games. My school has reached pure brain rot.
