

So who else got randomly kicked out their home (for at least 10 min) because their mom was angry about their grades and then finally found peace from being alone and then got forced back into their household

Loloololololololololololololol
My life sucks

