

She got back and explained a new plan for her to be apart of both camps through some ambassador thing. I was too tired to fully understand. They all hugged. Dev and I realized we had no way to get back. I can call my dad. Dev offers and grabs something out of his pocket and headed to a nearby tree to talk to Apollo. He finished and nodded to me. We watched the whole CJ moment and me and Dev shared a look when they kissed. Cypher was bright red when she headed off to grab her stuff. We walked over. Leo can't bring us back so I called my dad up. And he said he'll take us back. Dev told them. What then? Evelyn asks. I smile. Well after camp, we go home. I tell her. And you guys have the baby! She says excitedly. Me and Dev smile and he ran his fingers through my hair. We all walked back when Cypher stopped suddenly. He shook his head. Guys. He croaked. I started to panic and Dev went into doctor mode. What wrong? Seizure? He asks him. He shook his head and held his face. He fell to his knees and Dev yelled his name. I held Evelyn who was shaking. WE need help! Dev yells to me. Cypher ripped his eyepatch off and green mist poured out. He blacked out but eerie words came out of his mouth.

Flowers of death shall seal their fate

Hero's souls will open the gates

A by a Satyrs lie monsters part way

Two days to travel by sea

Five days to find themselves

If they fail the giants will raise.

We all stopped. Not another prophecy. I think and rush over to Cypher's crumpled body. He was breathing regularly but Dev still called to Frank to get help. They took him away on a stretcher to the healers. Evelyn held his hand the whole time.