

So many people have been leaving Notability lately and I agree with them. I've decided to step away from it for a while. My grades haven't gotten bad. But I have been forgetting to turn in and even DO assignments lately and I don't want it to get worse. I will miss Notability but I'm busy enough with out it. I do agree with @tinysroom " I feel like this is not a really healthy way to interact with other people there can be so many dangers." I've been thinking about this for a while and finally decided to quit. I might come back at some point but not soon. I will still be active and comment. I am so very thankful for all my supporters but trust me, this is for the better. I'll miss you guys.

Bye

-Lor06