

You guys ever miss the old you? Like I miss when I used to be so happy about everything. Roadkill? It's in a better place. Rain? I get to run around. Got a cut? My mommy can fix it. Like I used to find the positive side to everything when just last night I was so scared about my field trip (that went terrible) I cried. I miss being so positive I was oblivious to everything else.