

I checked on my dog this morning he looks fine, I let him outside and I just hope it doesn't. What? Kick in while I'm not here, I really can't do anything about it besides check on him (which I'm doing) because my parents and sister actually have the money for the vet. (I'm broke as s—)

