

Explaining my many phases: Pt. 1

Of course, I have to start off with my cringiest phase. There was a phase where I was “emo” but that wasn’t my cringiest.

So, back in 2nd grade I wanted to be like other girls (i.e, pink, bright clothes, cute voice) because I guess I was just too much of a tomboy. Let’s just say I enjoyed Pokémon cards, and whatever 2nd grade boys liked (except for sports. I hate sports.) I guess younger me was like, “Well...I’m not like other girls, and it’s unfair I don’t get to be!”

So anyways, I tried to be like other girls, right? But boy, did I do it wrong ToT I would make my voice more squeaky. I would say, “Omg!” And “Lol!”.

So during that time I had a Pokémon blanket (still have it now U-U) and my younger sister had a pink girly blanket. Since I wanted to be girly, I started using her blanket instead of mine. And obviously she got mad at me. But yeah, that phase didn’t last long. Sometimes, liking Pokémon cards and bey blades and LONGING to play with the boys is okay (I also played Fortnite at one point.)

(Turns out I’m trans and my behavior when I was younger proves that you don’t choose trans and trans chooses you ToT)
