

On October 9th a tiktoker know for his COD ghost cosplays took his own life due to false rumors/accusations of gr00ming a minor.

The way we literally only had him 2-3 months and in that short amount of time someone managed to falsely accuse him of something as serious as this and make him take is own life is honestly so ridiculous. Falsely accusing someone is ridiculous itself, but when they literally JUST became known? Seriously? I hope his friends & family are able to cope in a healthy way and that he's in whatever he'd consider a 'better place'. RIP Inquisitore3, you will be missed :(
