

Amy's face turned serious. Ok, then... she says and I look at Jake as I pull out my binder. Jake looks around and grabs a small table and pulls it over. I set the binder down carefully. Amy walks over from her desk. So how exactly are you gonna show me? She asks. Well, it has a specific time difference so whenever we spend one minute in that world its actually one hour in our world. I explain. So we can only spend a few minutes there right? She says. One minute exactly or else my dad will get suspicious. I tell her. Why? She asks. I look at the time and realize we dont have a lot of time. So im grounded and it's complicated. I'll explain everything later. Just please listen. I plead. Ok, now what? She asks. Well, now you hang on. I say and I put one hand on her and the other on the binder. I wish to Go to Shannon Falls. I say loudly and the tingle returns. What happening?! Amy asks and we're sucked into the void. I steady myself. I look around with my heightened senses. We were at the edge of the forest, very close to the camp. I hear something behind me and see a fox laying there. Huh? I don't remember a fox there. I think and it struggles up and flinch's when it sees us. Riley? Jake? Where are we. What's happening? And where are yall? The fox says in a squeaky version of Ms. Amy's voice. Its us Amy. ThEse are our forms in this world since we have charatcers that have our personalities. I explain. Then why dont I have one? She asks. Sorry about that but I made this a while ago and redid it. Though if we get far enough i can put one in for you. Assuming that you help us. I say. So Amy, do you believe us now? Jake/Luke asks her. You joking? Of course! This is incredible! Even more than incredible. She says and jumps. She looks at herself. She gives a tiny yelp and spins. Am I-? What am I? She asks. A fox. I laugh. Haha very funny but this isnt cool! She says. Ok then its time we went home. I say. I put my hand on Amy's back/fur and grab Jake's hand. Ok. I say and take a deep breath. You can do this. I tell myself and try not to focus on the fact I was holding Jake's hand. I wish we were home! I say loudly and sigh in relief as we travel back. We all get back and Amy lets out a breath and I check the clock on the wall. Right on time. I think and smile. Wow ok just wow. Ok, next session we have a lot of chatting to do. She says, in almost a childlike wonder voice. I had never seen Amy like this. Ok, we got to run, see you Thursday Amy! I say and Jake and I run off. Bye! She says and I grin. It felt good to tell someone about it and share the wonder but I knew she was the only one I could tell. I run till I come in sight of my car and wave

Goodbye to Jake then walk to my car. i try not to act suspicious as i get in. Dad didnt really talk on our way back and the afternoon went normal. I added some notes to the back on my mirror then did my homework. Though I was distracted the whole time with the book. Amy is right. It is incredible.